PLLA&HA

PLLA (Poly-L-Lactic Acid) is a biodegradable, biocompatible polymer derived from lactic acid that when applied it stimulates the natural production of collagen. Having PLLA as one of the active ingredients it provides the skin with the nutrients needed to not only delay collagen deterioration but also, to provide the skin with the tools to regenerate the collagen that has been lost.

Poly-L-Lactic Acid (PLLA)

Biocompatible & Biodegradable Polymer
Gradually stimulates collagen production
Fully absorbed by the body over time

Naturally Derived
Extracted from fermented corn (sugar-derived)
Plant-based origin ensures safety and low risk of allergic reactions

Used in medicine for decades
Proven safety in sutures, orthopedic implants, and aesthetic treatments

PLLA&HA

HA (Hyaluronic Acid) is a gooey, slippery substance that the body produces naturally but as we age, the concentration and molecular weight of HA substantially decreases. HA is crucial to the moisture and elasticity of the skin, that is why having it as an active ingredient will provide the skin with the hydration and moisture necessary to regain the elasticity of the skin making it look youthful

USAGE METHODS

MESO GUN

The Meso Gun allows for pre-setting of depth and volume, ensuring safety and efficacy. To achieve the best results, it is crucial to inject the right amount at the appropriate depth.

MTS TECHNIQUE

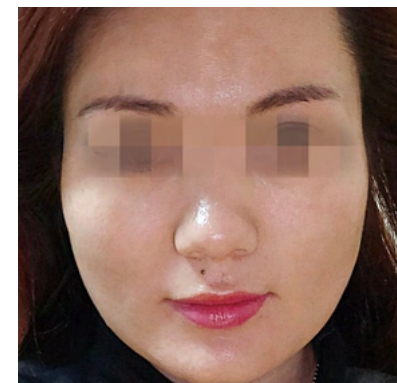

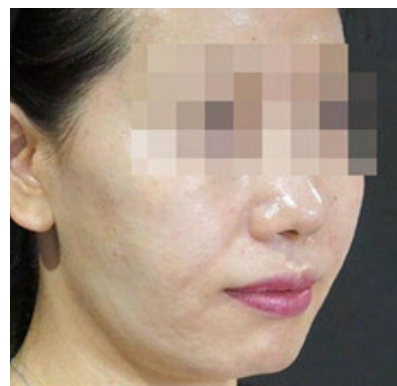

Compared with the Meso Gun and the Mesotherapy, MTS may have slightly lesser effects, but it is the safest method suitable for those patients who try for the first time a skincare procedure. Optimal results can be achieved with needle lengths of 1.0 mm ~ 2.0 mm.
